The warning shall outline the employer or nominee's concerns, the facts relied upon to justify the warning, the length of the warning period, and the action which the employer or nominee proposes to take if performance or conduct is not satisfactory by then. A copy of this Clause of the Agreement shall be attached, and a copy of the warning shall be sent promptly to the relevant person, association, organisation or other representative.

SCHEDULE B - CLASSIFICATIONS - USER GUIDE AND GLOSSARY OF TERMS

1. Introduction - user guide

To enable positions to be correctly classified, two separate and sequential processes need to occur.

2. Position analysis

This involves the gathering and documenting of information about the position and describing it in a form which can be used to compare the work features, responsibilities, qualifications and any other aspect of the job with the classification criteria.

The information recorded must be a true and accurate record of the current duties and responsibilities.

The standard job description format is the most appropriate method to be used. The quality and extent of the information gathered is very important in this process.

3. Position evaluation

After the job description is complete, a systematic comparison with the classification criteria needs to be undertaken. This assessment is used to determine the appropriate classification of the position.

4. Steps in classifying a position

The steps in classifying a position using the classification criteria are:

4.1 Analyse and compare the work levels described with the job description to ascertain the most likely classification level for the position.

4.2 All aspects of the job description, ie. requirements of the job, responsibilities, organisational relationships, extent of authority, etc, must be considered against the total criteria for the level. (The total responsibilities of the position must be compared with the total responsibilities of the level rather than comparison with selected parts.)

4.3 The job description should be tested against more than one level for appropriateness.

- a) An employee who works hours in excess of their normal working hours may be entitled to time off in lieu for any hours worked between 7.00am to 7.30pm Monday to Friday or when the program is regularly operating from Monday to Saturday as follows:
- b) TOIL is worked at the request of the Manager or Team Leader for an extraordinary event on during peak workloads. It is not a means by which additional hours are worked for the accrual of TOIL.
- c) The option to take TOIL is at the election of the employee and subject to the prior agreement of its accrual of the Team Leader.
- d) Time-in-lieu is to be taken on an hour for hour basis up to a maximum of 10 hours accumulative per fortnight to a maximum of 20 hours a month. If TOIL is not taken within two months it is forfeited.
- e) TOIL is accumulated as a result of extra workloads performed, not for a purpose. TOIL is not used to accumulate time in order to take extra time off at a later stage. TOIL can be taken subject to the agreement of the Team Leader.
- f) Any TOIL accrued will be taken before any recreation leave, when recreation leave is requested including during stand down periods.
- g) Overtime or TOIL does not apply when attending courses, conferences or when travelling away from WCS.

4. First Aid, Fire Warden and OH&S Representative Allowances

- a) To ensure OH&S regulations are complied with, WCS is required to appoint a certain number of First Aid Officers. In recognition of the above requirements, employees who are appointed as First Aid Officers will be paid an allowance per fortnight.
- b) The allowance rate is $21.59 per fortnight effective 1 July 2009. This rate is based on the ACT Public Service base level * First Aid rate. The rate is calculated on the current ACTPS rate of $20.93 plus the WCS indexation increase of 3.15% applicable as from 1 July 2009. This increases the allowance by 66 cents to $21.59 per fortnight for 2009/10.
- c) *A Certificate awarded by a Registered Training Organisation that is accredited to deliver First Aid training. This would normally be based on a minimum of 8 hours training and would include: Expired Air (EAR), Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), life threatening emergencies and general minor first aid treatment.
- d) The above allowance will also apply to employees who are appointed as Fire Warden and/or as Occupational Health and Safety Representative.

- e) First Aid allowance is only paid to employees appointed as First Aid Officers who provide services as required by OH&S legislation to cover WCS's work environment. ( see special note below).

- g) Training and associated costs will be covered by WCS for employees engaged in official First Aid, Fire Warden and OH&S Representative functions.
- h)  Special note: Some WCS jobs require first aid qualifications as a prerequisite of their job. This may apply to children services and other employees engaged in carer roles, including family day care workers. WCS will cover the costs of training and refresher/update courses. Existing HACC support drivers will continue to receive the First Aid allowance whilst employed in their present jobs. In future, new support driver employees will not be paid the allowance.

5. Travel Allowance (Domestic and International)

- a) WCS will reimburse all reasonable official travel related expenses, including transportation, accommodation, meals and incidental expenses. Acceptable travel related expenses must be incurred as a result of work related activity and will vary according to the destination, duration and nature of the travel. It is the responsibility of the traveler to minimise all expenses to a sensible and practical level.
- b) Reasonable travel related expenses when travelling for official purposes are reflected in the following list. Work related travel expenses should be considered on a case-by-case basis. These expenses may include:

Reasonable Travel Related Expenses

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Accommodation – room only costs; • Car rental and hire costs – when other means of transportation are unavailable, more costly or impractical; • Excess baggage for work related documentation or equipment; • Laundry and dry cleaning (if away from home for 3 nights or more); • Local taxes, stamp duties and transaction costs for work related activities; • Main meals (where the cost of meals has not already been paid for by WCS or other parties); • Medical costs in case of sickness when travelling; • Parking costs; Taxis; Tickets for air, bus, ferry, rail; 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Photocopying and business services where these could not be arranged before departure or at the offices visited; • Postage, fax and modem costs for work related purposes; • Pre-travel medical costs; • Telephone costs – business and a short call home once every day; • Tips and gratuities (when customary); • Tolls; • Travel insurance when deemed necessary; • Travellers cheque fees; or • Visas and special documentation requirements for foreign countries visited.

- e) For air travel, travel should be booked using the lowest fare principle, which is the most economical air fare that suits the requirements of a traveller in enabling business objectives to be met, and ensures the effective use of the traveller's time. Employees wishing to travel with an airline of their choice will reimburse WCS the cost difference should it be greater than the most economical fare. For other expenses, every effort should be made to obtain the best rate and practical alternatives should be considered.
- f) Travellers are responsible for ensuring that adequate planning and timely bookings are made to minimise travel costs.

- b) The private use is considered to be a fringe benefit by the Australian Taxation Office.
- c) The policy of Woden Community Service is that the employee does not enjoy a fringe benefit as it believes the work commitments of the employee do not allow the employee to return the vehicle to WCS premises or other locations.

- d) As such WCS does not believe the employee should be expected to absorb the calculated fringe benefit within the employee's fringe benefit package.
- e) WCS will make a grossed up allowance payment to each employee who falls into this category based on either an individual employee or a shared basis with other employees which, on an after tax basis, equates to the fringe benefit value attached to each vehicle which is being home garaged.
- f) The employee will be expected to make a contribution after tax to WCS to eliminate the calculated fringe benefit value. This allowance payment will not attract the superannuation guarantee.

7. Home Based Work

- a) WCS may request, due to effective and efficient considerations, an arrangement where an employee works from home. WCS may provide computing resources for home use, remote access capability, phone line installation and reimbursement of 100% of line rental. A security and OH&S assessment must be conducted.
- b) In agreed cases where a working from home arrangement is requested by the employee, the employee is responsible for all costs with maintaining a home based office and may wish to seek reimbursement for these costs via taxation refund entitlements.
